She said that the idea that the burning of fossil fuels was the main cause of climate change, and therefore the need for action to curb it, was not being debated in the US. AFLO has been asking why this is so. We think we know, as we laid out in our paper To The People Who Don't Think CO2 Is Going Up, published in The Independent on 4 September 2012. But we want the US Congress to be aware of this discrepancy, so that it can better examine our side of the debate. AP Raiders coach Jon Gruden didn't reveal any big scheme changes to the team's defense during a press conference Thursday. He did make some adjustments during the practice run Thursday. "We want to make sure we line up the way we practice every day," Gruden said. "We want to execute. We're not looking at this as a whole new team." That means some personnel changes and that may mean a cut or two for safety Reggie Nelson and cornerback Dexter McDonald. Coach Gruden said the team needs to evaluate the situation. Gruden said he wasn't sure if there was more playing time for the two veterans than there is right now. Gruden said the team is looking for some speed at cornerback. Asked if McDonald is still getting first team reps, Gruden said that's up to the coaches.
