I need to extract the 26th line. A: If you know about regular expressions, you can use this regex to match the line you are interested in: \r \s*Tally[^\r](?=\r \s\d+).* The asterisk makes the part in between optional. This would match any line in which a number appears followed by a dot and a space. So if you extract the match, you can create an array that holds the match for each line: $regex = [Regex]::new('\r \s*Tally[^\r](?=\r \s\d+).*'); $matches = $regex.Matches('Your text here'); $matches will be an array containing the lines. You can read more about regular expressions here. If you want to extract the number only, you can use this regex: \r \s*Tally[^\r](?=\r \s\d+).*\K\d The \K will stop at that position so the number will always be the last capture group. $regex = [Regex]::new('\r \s*Tally[^\r](?=\r \s\d+).*\K\d'); $matches = $regex.Matches('Your text here'); In this case, $matches will be an array that has only the matching lines.
