FIFA is a series of videogames that were originally developed by EA Canada and published by EA Sports. FIFA is more than a sport, it's a football experience that takes into account all aspects of the game: players, teams, stadiums, and competitions. There are five main game modes: FIFA Online FIFA FIFA Mobile Official Seasons Career Features Now Playing Powered by Football New Players New Teams New Kits New Moves New Cards New Mobile Platforms New Development Tools A New A.I New Commentary A New Player Evaluation System A New Transfer System A New Match-Day Experience New Communication Channels Ten New Country Flags The All-New Player Traits* *NOTE: The FIFA 22 Player Traits still have some optimizations to be done, and they are going to get a lot of attention when they release. A lot of this information will not be revealed until the Traits are released. The All-New Player Traits You will notice that the All-New Player Traits are not as detailed as the Classic Traits, but that is because the All-New Traits are designed to be more specifically oriented for the FIFA 22 game engine. The release of the Traits will be delayed until after the game is released. If you would like a more detailed explanation of the All-New Player Traits, or the Classic Traits, please read our FAQs (Frequently Asked Questions). 10 New Country Flags With the release of FIFA 22, we're adding ten new country flags to the game. China Denmark England Finland Germany France Greece Iceland Ireland Norway Spain If you already own the game, you can download the updated engine and start playing with ten new country flags in no time! Players, Teams, and Data Sets Two Major Changes to the Data Sets We are also making two major data set changes with the release of FIFA 22. Firstly, we are reverting to the legacy IDs used in FIFA 17. This will make it more convenient for the players to import their Classic IDS. Secondly, we are
